MAP Operational Comm Strategy

The MAP Operational Communication Strategy approved by Contracting Parties during COP22 in December 2021 has been slightly updated taking into account progress and outcomes of the activities carried out in the current biennium (2022-23) and in the framework of the updated MAP Communication Strategy extended for the next 6 years (2024-2029).

Gap analysis

Gaps in terms of (1) identity, (2) messages and content, (3) channels and networks, originally identified in the Operational Communication Strategy 2020-21 have been mostly overcome during the past and current biennium.....

MAP Identity

Brand building: MAP components communicate mainly in silos, implementing their respective visual identities and communicating different messages. As a result, it is challenging for external audiences to perceive MAP as one unified entity.

S

Gaps reduced especially through a structural use of UNEP/MAP logo, of common hashtags as #BarcelonaConvention and #Act4Med and initiatives such as system-wide celebrations of UN observances. The Barcelona system framework is consistently referenced in all communication with the public, especially in press releases and informational materials. In general the use of joint logos of all the MAP Barcelona Convention System during the main events is already a common and successful best practice....

MAP Identity

Position MAP as One System, composed of different components, but Communicating as One on regional priority issues with the goal to unify and strengthen MAP's "Brand identity»

Collaboration between MAP Component has been strengthened and activities have been carried out in full cooperation using thematic competences and common expertise in communication, in the spirit of the "Communication as One" respecting and exalting specific diversities.

International Events

UNEP/MAP has taken part in various international events such as the 15th Conference of Parties to the UN Convention on Biological Diversity (Montreal, Canada, 7-19 December 2022), the 3rd Meeting of the Sustainable Ocean Initiative (SOI) Global Dialogue with Regional Sea Organizations (RSOs) and Regional Fishery Management Organizations (RFMOs) (Busan, Republic of Korea, 25-28 October 2022), IUCN World Conservation Congress 2021 (Marseille, France, 3-11 September 2021), 5th International Marine Protected Areas Congress (Vancouver, Canada, 3-9 February 2023), UNFCCC COP27 (Sharm el-Sheikh, Egypt, November 2022), United Nation's Ocean Summit (UNOC 2022) (Lisbon, Portugal, July 2022), etc...

Messages and contents

Choice of topics: The majority of MAP's communication activities are reactive, initiated on the occasion of meetings/events. MAP does not follow a plan and schedule with strategic priority topics to be highlighted within a specific timeframe

S

Collectively efforts have been by the MAP Communication taskforce in terms of planning in the course of the last two biennium and this gap can be considered partially overcome.

Messages and contents

Data availability: Raising awareness about the state of the environment in the Mediterranean requires data-driven communication. However, consolidated data/trends on key topics at a regional level is sometimes unavailable

P

As in the past biennium the State of the Environment and Development in the Mediterranean (SoED), and the First Mediterranean Assessment Report (MAR 1) provided a solid base of data available for Mediterranean community, shedding new light on the hefty toll that the global triple crisis of climate change, biodiversity loss and pollution is taking on Mediterranean ecosystems, in the current one MAP is preparing in a collective effort the 2023 MedQSR that will be presented at COP23

Channels and Networks

Traditional Media: MAP has a limited presence in traditional media. For example, in 2017, MAP's name was mentioned less than 10 times in main Mediterranean online newspapers. Media coverage of recent important events (new ratification) and main reports (QSR), was limited, in recent years

S

The SoED campaign generated significant media coverage in the last biennium, including a mention at the daily briefing of the UN Secretary-General Spokesperson in NY. Op-Eds by the Coordinator were also published in prominent newspapers.

Channels and Networks

Social Media: MAP's main counterparts communicate on Twitter (the large majority of Contracting Parties, Contracting Parties' officials, NGOs, International Organizations, etc.), sometimes mentioning MAP. However, MAP does not maintain a corporate account on any social media platform. All RACs maintain Twitter accounts and other social media.

S

MAP Twitter account (@UNEPMAPNews) was activated and is representing an important channel to disseminate progress under the Barcelona Convention in close networking with the already active RACs accounts. This has given a voice to UNEP/MAP and enabled consistent communication, including messages on key events and priorities. Digital content ranging from videos to digital cards carrying quotes and facts and figures have been developed by INFO/RAC and the MAP Communication Taskforce.

CALL FOR APPLICATION TO MEDITERRANEAN COASTAL CITIES

ISTANBUL ENVIRONMENT FRIENDLY CITY AWARD - 4TH EDITION (2022-2023)

The call is open from the 16th November 2022 until the 30th June 2023

Ms Tatjana Hema
UNEP/MAP Coordinator at Mediterranean Pavilion - COP27

HOME English

The Award - Recognizing the role and contributions of cities and local authorities in fulfilling the UNEP/MAP vision for a healthy Mediterranean Sea and Coast

The Istanbul Environment Friendly City Award was created in the framework of the Mediterranean Strategy for Sustainable Development (MSSD 2016-2025) to recognize efforts of local authorities in promoting sustainable development in Mediterranean coastal cities.

A Mediterranean environment friendly city is "a coastal city in harmony with the sea, utilizing its resources efficiently, equitably and sustainably, reducing its impact on marine and coastal environment and climate change, and managing the environment for the benefit of current and future generations". In other words, a coastal city in which people enjoy a high quality of life and where sustainable development takes place within the carrying capacity of healthy ecosystems.

The objectives of the Award are to encourage local authorities to move towards a more environment friendly future; enable local authorities to act as a role-model to inspire other cities; and, raise the awareness of the general public regarding the quality of environment in their cities

For coastal sustainability in Albania and Italy

#CAMPOtranto

PROJECT PARTNERS

01

The CAMP Otranto Transboundary Project

The project seeks to reinforce sustainable development, integrated coastal zone management (ICZM) and marine spatial planning (MSP) across the South Adriatic to eliminate marine litter, prevent pollution on coast and sea and to support biodiversity conservation in the project regions of Vlorë (Albania) and Puglia (Italy).

CAMP Otranto is the first transboundary project since the launch of the Coastal Areas Management Programme (CAMP) in 1989.

Transboundary CAMP Otranto

The Otranto approach to intercultural dialogue and effective collaboration is a way forward to facing up to the triple planetary crisis of pollution, climate change and biodiversity loss.

Many of humanity's current challenges for the sustainability of the global ocean are crucial to the health and development of communities and natural habitats in the Mediterranean. Success in this region will echo well beyond the South Adriatic, sending a message that we can work together for the common objective of protecting and living in harmony with the ocean and nature.

Partner Benefits

- Joint development of additional tools for the management of coastal and marine ecosystems, in the transboundary context
- The opportunity to learn new methodologies with reference to the inter-sectoral and inter-level planning and the strengthening of inter-institutional coordination
- Use the findings of project approaches towards ICZM and MSP for the conservation policies and management

Project Timeline

2018 2019 03 / 2021 12 / 2023 2024

WHAT IS THE CAMP?

More than a project!

Coastal Area Management Programme (CAMP), approved by the Sixth Ordinary Meeting of the Contracting Parties to the Barcelona Convention, held in Athens in 1989, is co-coordinated by PAP/RAC responsible of CAMP projects implementation. Country Pilot Projects have been implemented by PAP/RAC in the 1988-89 period.

CAMP IS THE MAIN INSTRUMENT TO:

- implement practical coastal management projects in selected Mediterranean coastal areas, applying ICZM as a major tool
- facilitate at the local level the implementation of the ICZM Protocol in a particular country
- develop strategies and procedures for a sustainable development in project areas
- identify and apply the relevant methodologies and tools

MAIN SELECTION CRITERIA

Individual CAMP projects are identified and selected according to defined selection criteria, and approved by the relevant Ordinary Conference of the Contracting Parties to the Barcelona Convention.

- project sustainability
- representativity
- regional interest in the problems to be dealt with
- political commitment of the host authorities
- institutional capability in the host country and in the selected area to carry out the project
- "integrability" of project results into the local and national development policies; and replicability

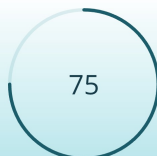

THE MAJOR CAMP PROJECTS OUTPUTS

- Diagnostic Analysis (Feasibility Study)
- the Project Agreement and Terms of Reference
- Inception Report
- Technical Specifications for individual activities of the project
- Project Database and GIS
- Systemic Sustainability Analysis
- Participatory Programme
- Final Reports of individual activities
- Final Integrated Report
- Follow-up Proposals and Urgent Investment Portfolio
- Presentation Conference Report and the Report of the Presentation Meeting at the host-country high governmental level

THE STRUCTURE

A CAMP project includes a number of individual activities, to be integrated at the project level:

- database and GIS; the participatory programme; Systemic Sustainability Analysis; integration of project results, and
- a limited number of specific individual sectorial or multi-sectorial activities, according to project objectives and problems dominant in the project area.
